

Connections among Devices

When Smart Device, Smartphone, Smart TV try to connect to another Device, then we should provide security to that Connection.

Smart Device should have a list of Devices which we already set up before. This way, we know what Device we are connecting to.

For example. Our Smart Device holds Contacts who we know about and we trust too. The same scenario happens with the last paragraph explained.

Devices, we granted to connect to, from our Smart Device, should be a manual setting. In case, we can do it automatically, it may lead to untrusted Connections.
